1. Introduction

Educating The Future Australia (ETF) is committed to ensuring that we accurately assess, resolve and follow up complaints in order to improve its delivery of education related programs. This policy is intended to ensure that ETF handles complaints fairly and effectively. ETF views complaints as an opportunity to learn and improve procedures and management, for both the organisation and complainant.

2. Purpose

Management and handling of complaints by ETF is fair, efficient and accessible. The organisation has a respectful and productive workplace culture where donors, members and staff can raise their concerns directly. This policy, under the key principles of ETF, establishes a general complaint handling process, providing guidelines for complainants and complaint recipients. This policy acknowledges that the beneficiaries and stakeholders of ETF's programs in Timor-Leste may be in a different position than those individuals supporting or involved with the organisation in Australia. This policy takes into account the needs of the most vulnerable, including the disadvantaged and minority.

This policy aims to support the provision of the highest quality service to our donors, to increase the level of donor satisfaction with delivery of ETF's service and to enhance ETF's relationship with our donors.

6.1. Educating Volunteers and Partners

ETF recognises its responsibility to educate all persons involved in ETF's development activity of the complaints handling policy and procedure as well as their right to make a complaint.

All ETF directors and volunteers will be familiarised with this policy and procedures as part of induction programs. Personnel directly involved in the complaint handling will be trained to implement it fully.

All partners and community members in Timor-Leste will be provided with a simplified version of this policy in Tetun (local language) to the School Management Committee (SMC) equip them with the information regarding how and who to file complaints with during the socialisation phase of any projects. This will be discussed in the meeting with the community and representativeness in ETF to acknowledge any amendments or cultural considerations. It will include reference to ETF's website and email to access the full version available in English. ETF's in-country volunteers will act as the frontline responder to complaints from Timor-Leste partners and community members.

7. Processes

An effective complaints handling process is modelled on the principles of confidentiality, responsibility, efficiency, responsiveness and review. This is a representation of ETF's organisational culture.

7.1 Confidentiality

All complaints will be handled privately and carefully. In accordance to ETF's Privacy Policy Section 5.4, ETF will not disclose information about the individual without their consent to other parties. ETF will handle matters discreetly, and at the discretion of the individual. ETF will protect the identity of people making complaints where practical and appropriate. Personal information that identifies individuals will only be disclosed or used by ETF as permitted under ETF's Privacy Policy, and relevant confidentiality obligations.

7.2 Responsibility

The responsibility for the management and handling of complaints lies with ETF. It is ETF's obligation to respond and address complaints made to, or about ETF, regarding our services or staff, fairly and efficiently. This requires the provision of adequate support and direction to staff who are directly responsible for handling complaints. ETF is committed to including training on complaints handling in the initial induction session for new directors and volunteers, as well as yearly refresher training sessions. This training will equip directors and volunteers with the knowledge and skills to understand and implement ETF's complaints handling policy and procedures. Furthermore, ETF is responsible for encouraging staff to assist those responsible for handling complaints in order to resolve the issue promptly. ETF is responsible for recognising errors in service, or misbehaviour of staff, following complaints. ETF is responsible for identifying areas of improvement, and providing recommendations to reduce risk of (a repeated complaint). ETF accepts responsibility for misservice and mismanagement and following complaints, will strive to improve its procedures.

7.3 Efficiency

ETF is committed to efficiently assessing, resolving and following up complaints. This requires ETF to regularly review reports of complaint trends and issues arising from donors, members of the public, or staff. As such, ETF will provide adequate resources to ensure complaints are received and addressed accordingly. ETF also understands the value in providing a fair and accessible complaint procedure to donors, members of the public, and staff. ETF promotes the commitment to the resolution of complaints, and aims to conclude matters in a timely manner.

7.4 Responsiveness

ETF will ensure the complaint process is dealt with quickly and efficiently. ETF is committed to treating complainants with courtesy and striving to resolve complaints at the first point of contact. The timeline for all complaints is as follows:

- The complaint and issue will be raised with ETF's Managing Director and/or Directors within 5 business days of being acknowledged. The complainant will be informed of any delays.
- ETF will aim to resolve the case within 30 days of the complaint being acknowledged.

7.5 Escalation of Serious Incidents

ETF recognises not all complaints require the same level of investigation or priority. ETF is committed to identifying and addressing complaints of a serious nature in an appropriate and timely manner. In order to ensure this ETF implements a triage system for escalating serious incidents. Using this system assists with determining the priority of the complaint and how and who should respond.

The receiver of the complaint will undergo the triage assessment process in consultation with a Director of ETF. This will be triaged in accordance with the Risk Matrix, and/or sought advice from the Finance, Risk and Audit Committee as to the nature of the complaint if it is not clear. If both volunteers believe the complaint is of a serious nature it should be escalated immediately to ETF's directors.

As part of this assessment, ETF will ensure to communicate with the complainant to clarify the details of the complaint and the outcome they are seeking.

7.5.1 Factors to Consider in Triage System

- The seriousness of the issues raised
- The complexity of the complaint
- Any need for urgent action, for example where there are health or safety concerns for any person
- Whether the complaint raises systemic issues, and the impact on the person and broader community
- The potential for the complaint to escalate
- Whether the complaint is about a director or volunteer, and needs to be handled by an independent, impartial person
- Whether the complaint involves other organisations

7.6 Referral Process for Complaints Outside of Policy Scope

ETF recognises that not all complaints fall within the scope of this policy or ETF's responsibilities. In this case, ETF is committed to informing the complainant as soon as possible and refer them to other agencies, organisations or government departments that may be able to assist.

ETF recognises the importance of supporting survivors throughout and after the complaints handling process. ETF is committed to providing appropriate assistance and referrals to external support organisations. This support can include medical, social, legal and financial assistance or referrals to such services.

It does not form part of any contract of engagement and may be amended, replaced or revoked by ETF at any time in its absolute discretion.

This policy will be reviewed every two years.
